The page your attendees see

Synthetic design examples based on review #1114. Role-specific navigation, readable controls and current domain boundaries remain explicit.

The gallery stays outside the product. Public pages, a director club portal and an authorized event staff workspace retain different navigation and scope. These examples do not change production behavior.

Registration parties

Keep the card overview. Offer a compact table when comparison matters.

- Registration state and payment meaning are separate.
- Sort text follows the chosen order. Export scope is explained.
- Try Table, Attendee list, Meal planning, search and record detail.

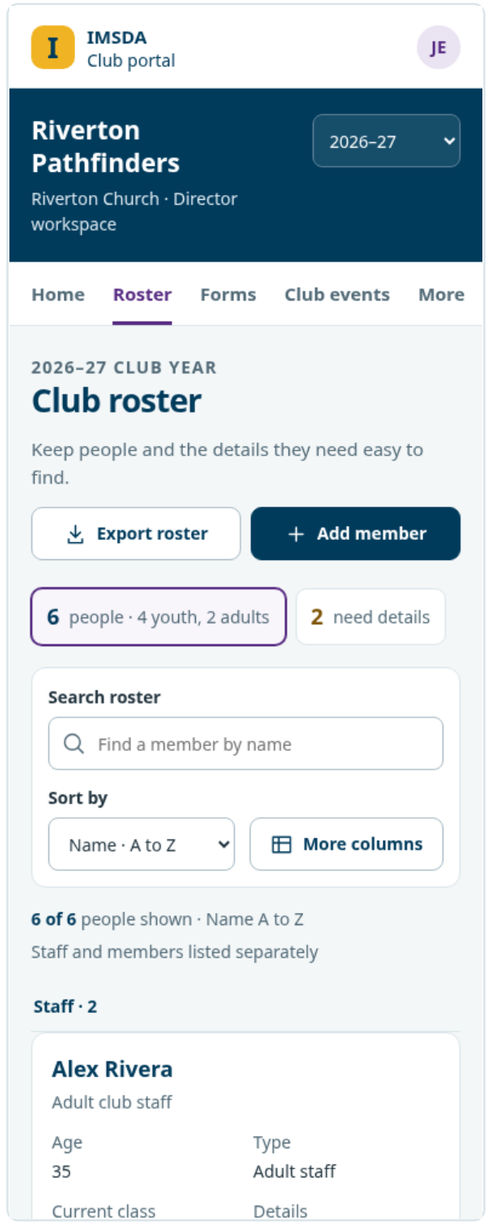

A roster built for the next task

Lead with the person and the detail that needs attention.

DESKTOP · 1440 × 1080 VIEWPORT

PHONE · FIRST VIEWPORT

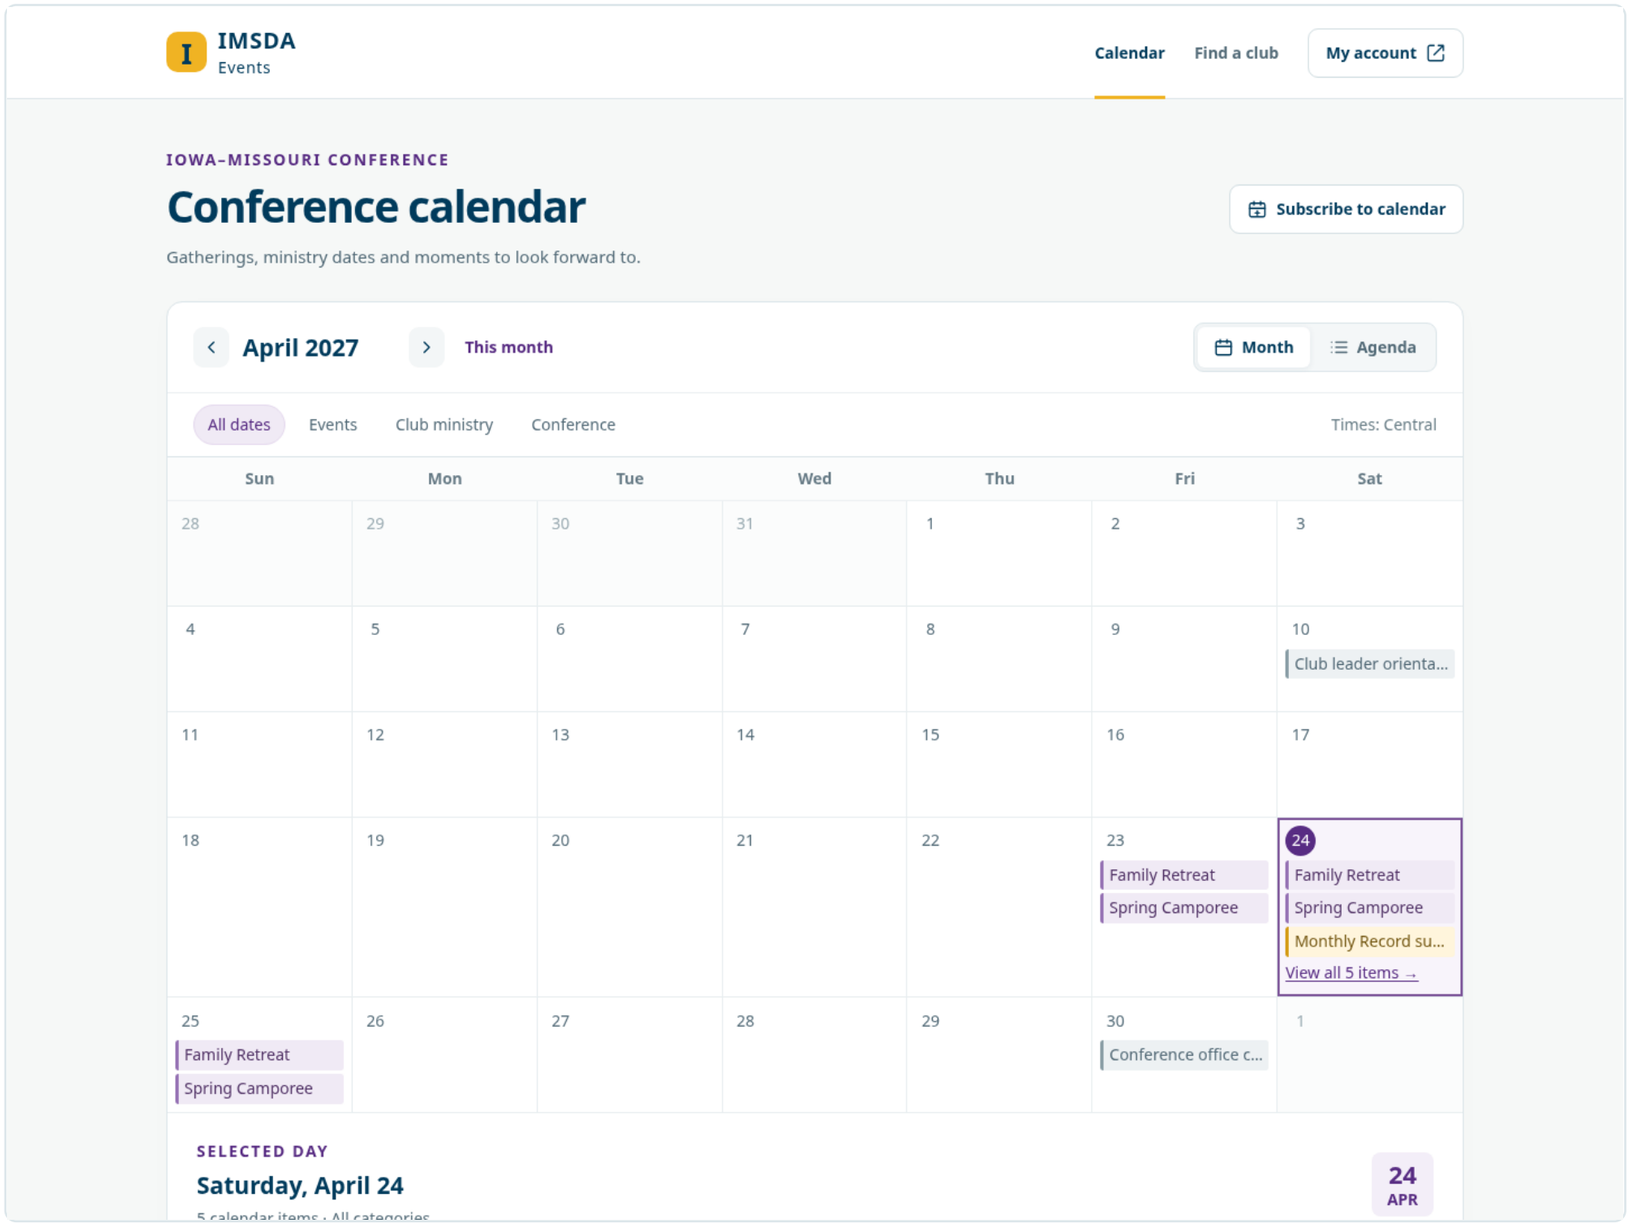

- Director context stays on the club and working year.
- Edit has a visible label; less frequent actions have a named menu.
- Try Details needed, search, More columns, Edit and dirty-close recovery.

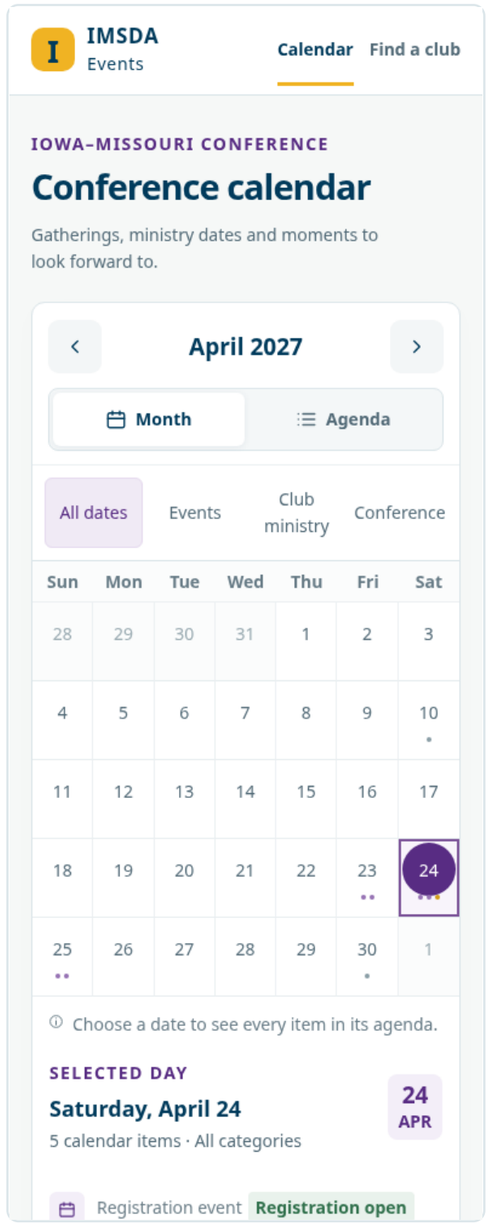

A calendar that opens the whole day

A crowded date is an entry point to a readable agenda.

DESKTOP · 1440 × 1080 VIEWPORT

PHONE · FIRST VIEWPORT

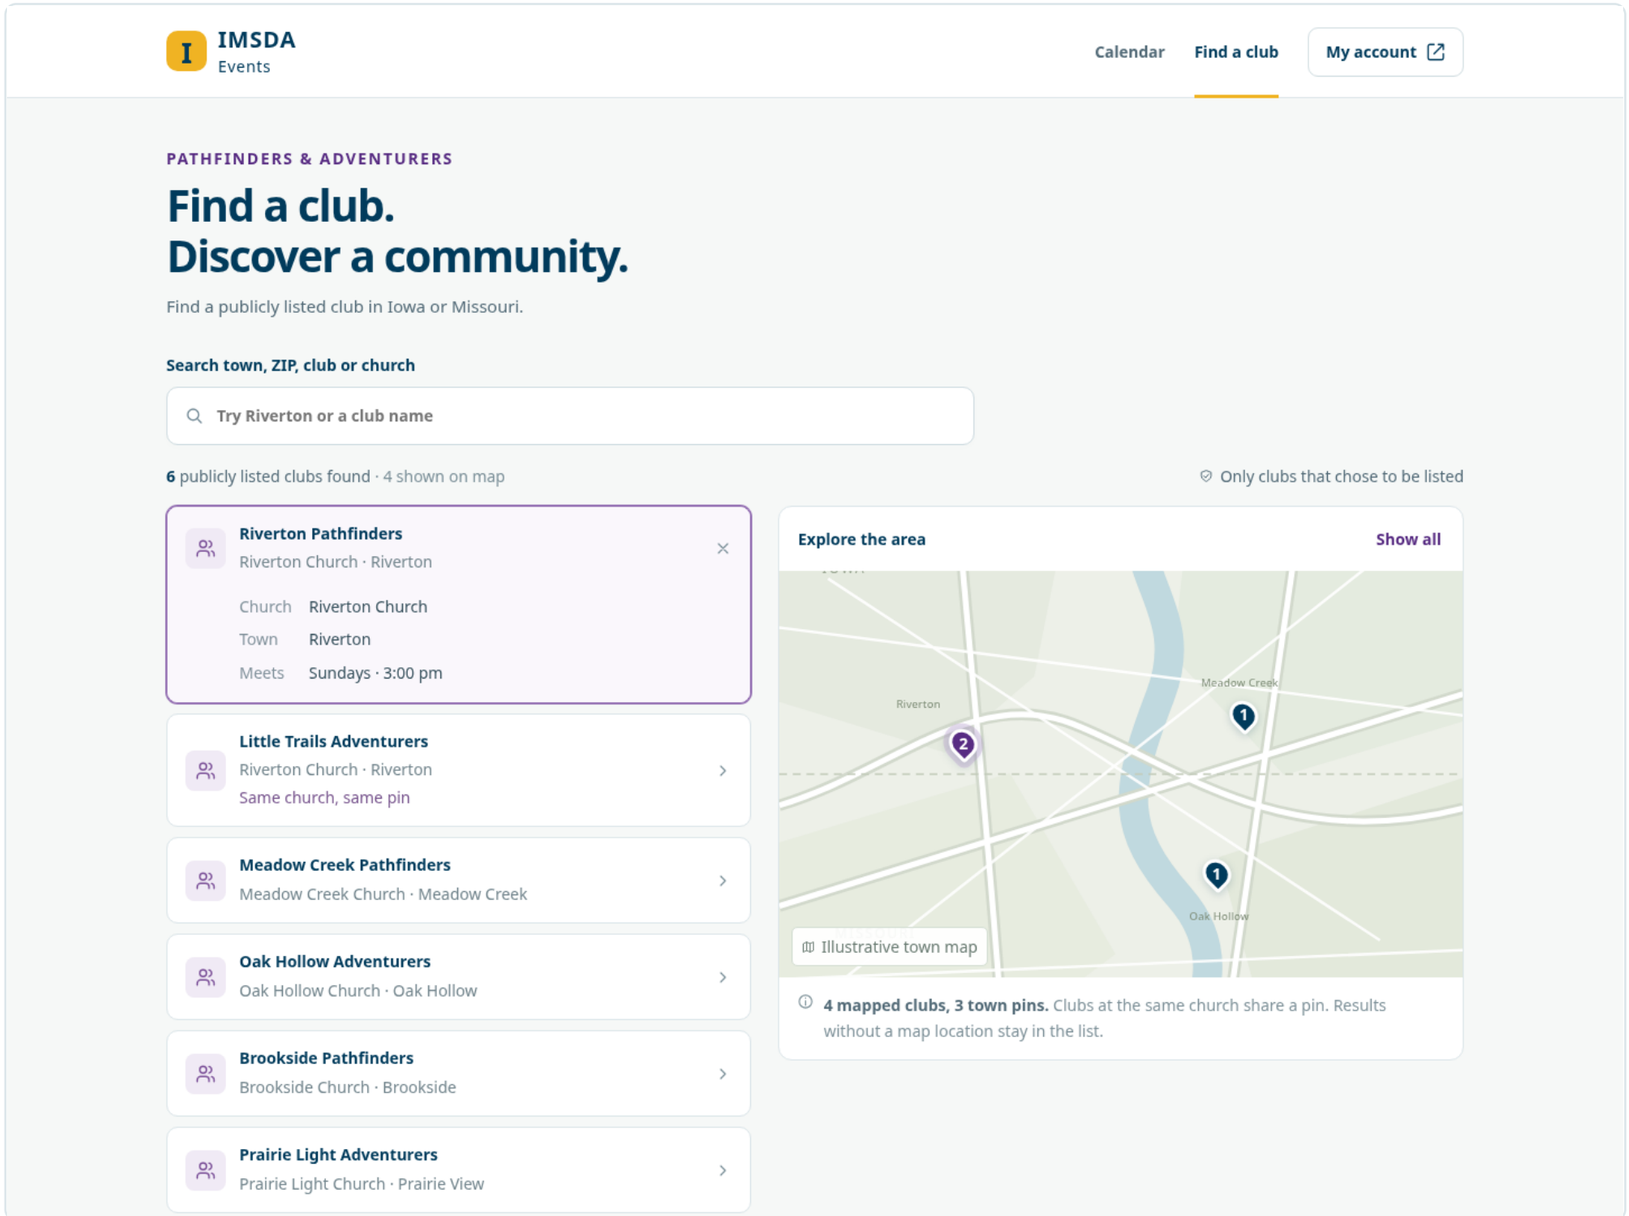

- Open April 24 to see all five items.
- Category, dates and registration destinations retain their meaning.
- Try a category, a different month, Agenda, or a crowded date.

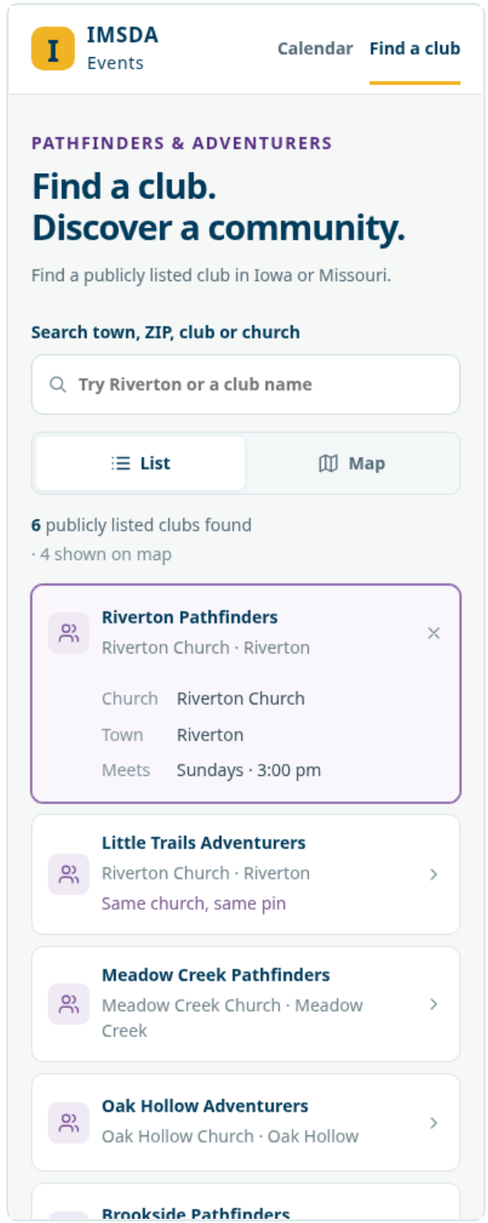

Find a club with clear results

Search words, mapped clubs and list results tell the same story.

DESKTOP · 1440 × 1080 VIEWPORT

PHONE · FIRST VIEWPORT

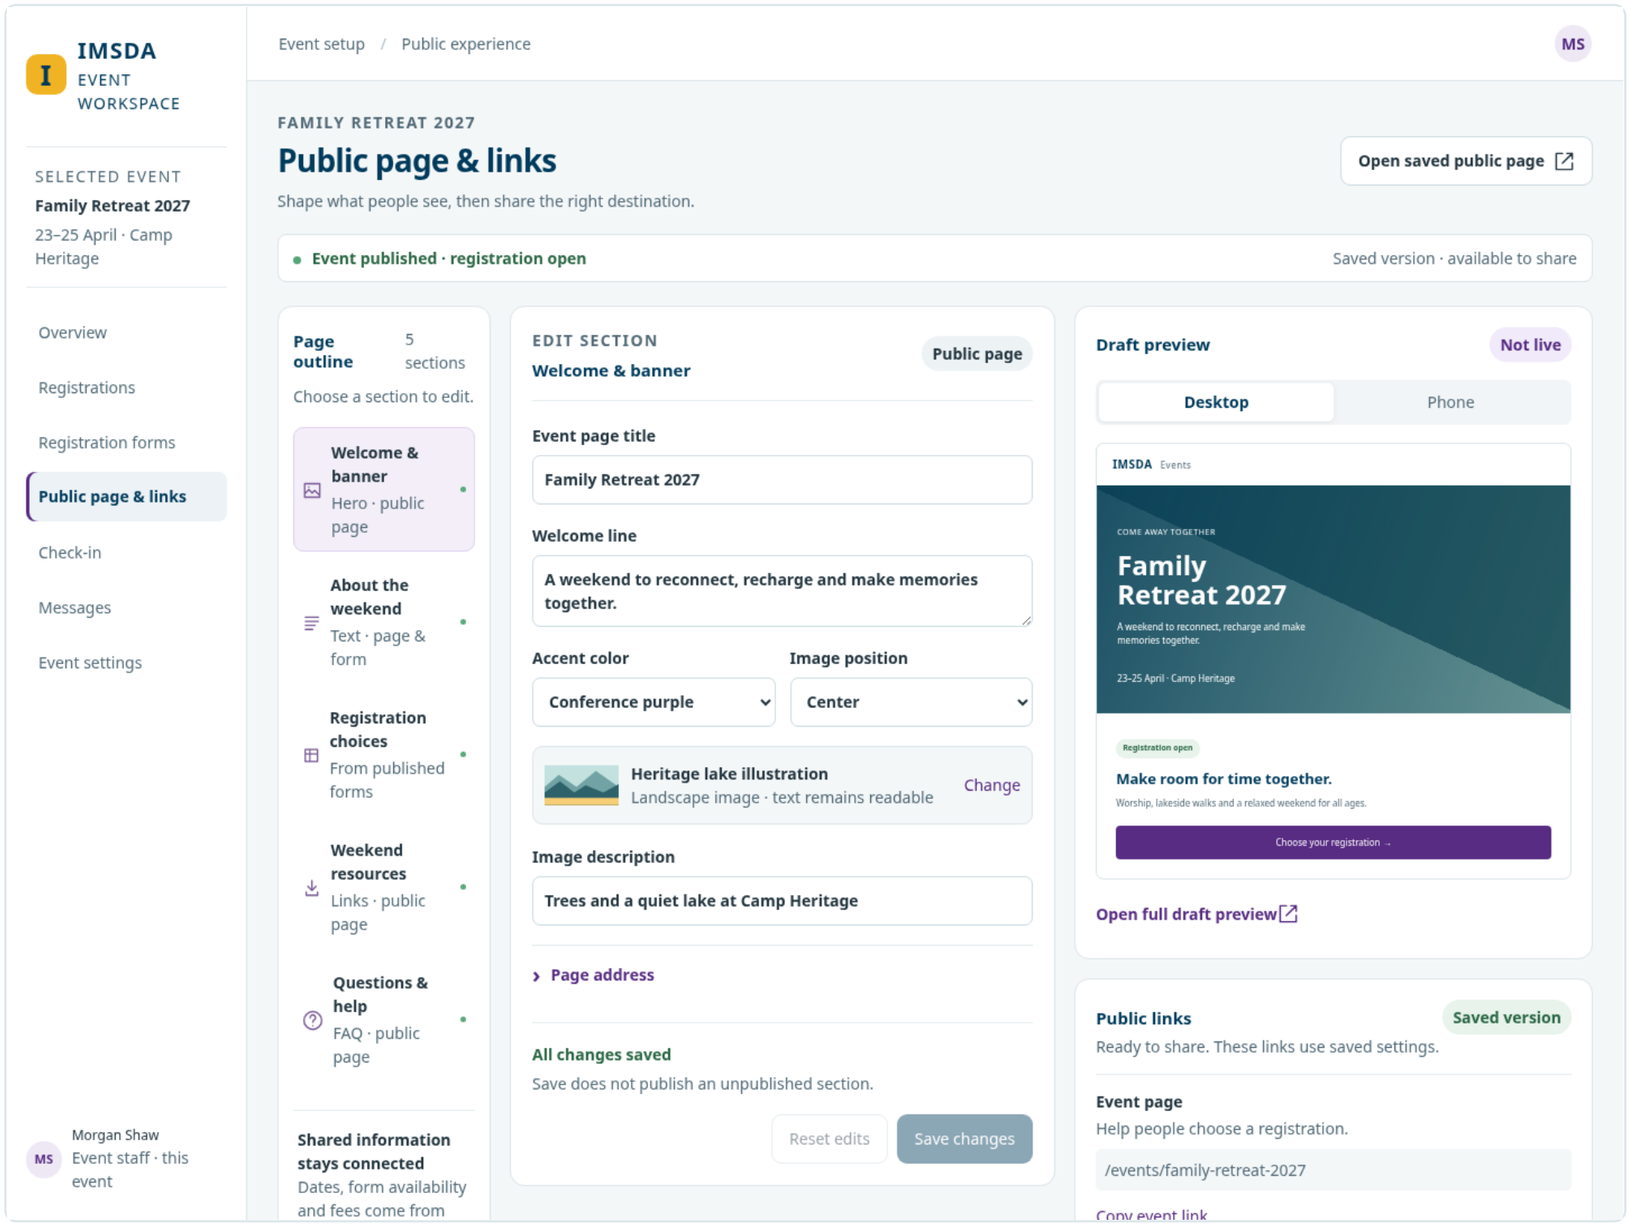

- Six listed clubs; four mapped clubs share three town pins.
- Unmapped results stay in the list. Phone List / Map avoids a map-first detour.
- Try Riverton, Brookside, no results, Clear and a shared pin.

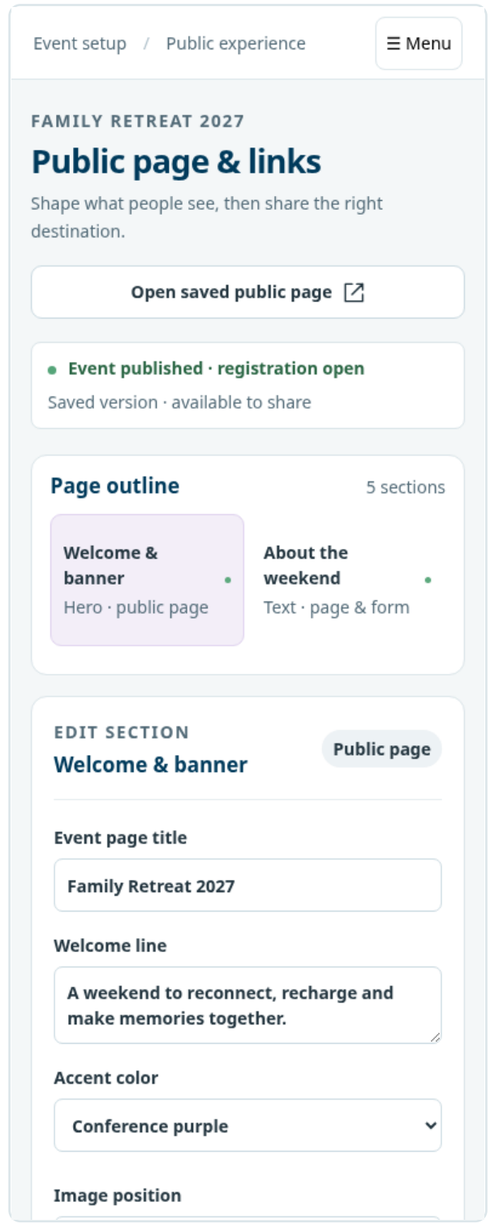

Public page & links

Edit content in context and share the saved public address.

DESKTOP · 1440 × 1080 VIEWPORT

PHONE · FIRST VIEWPORT

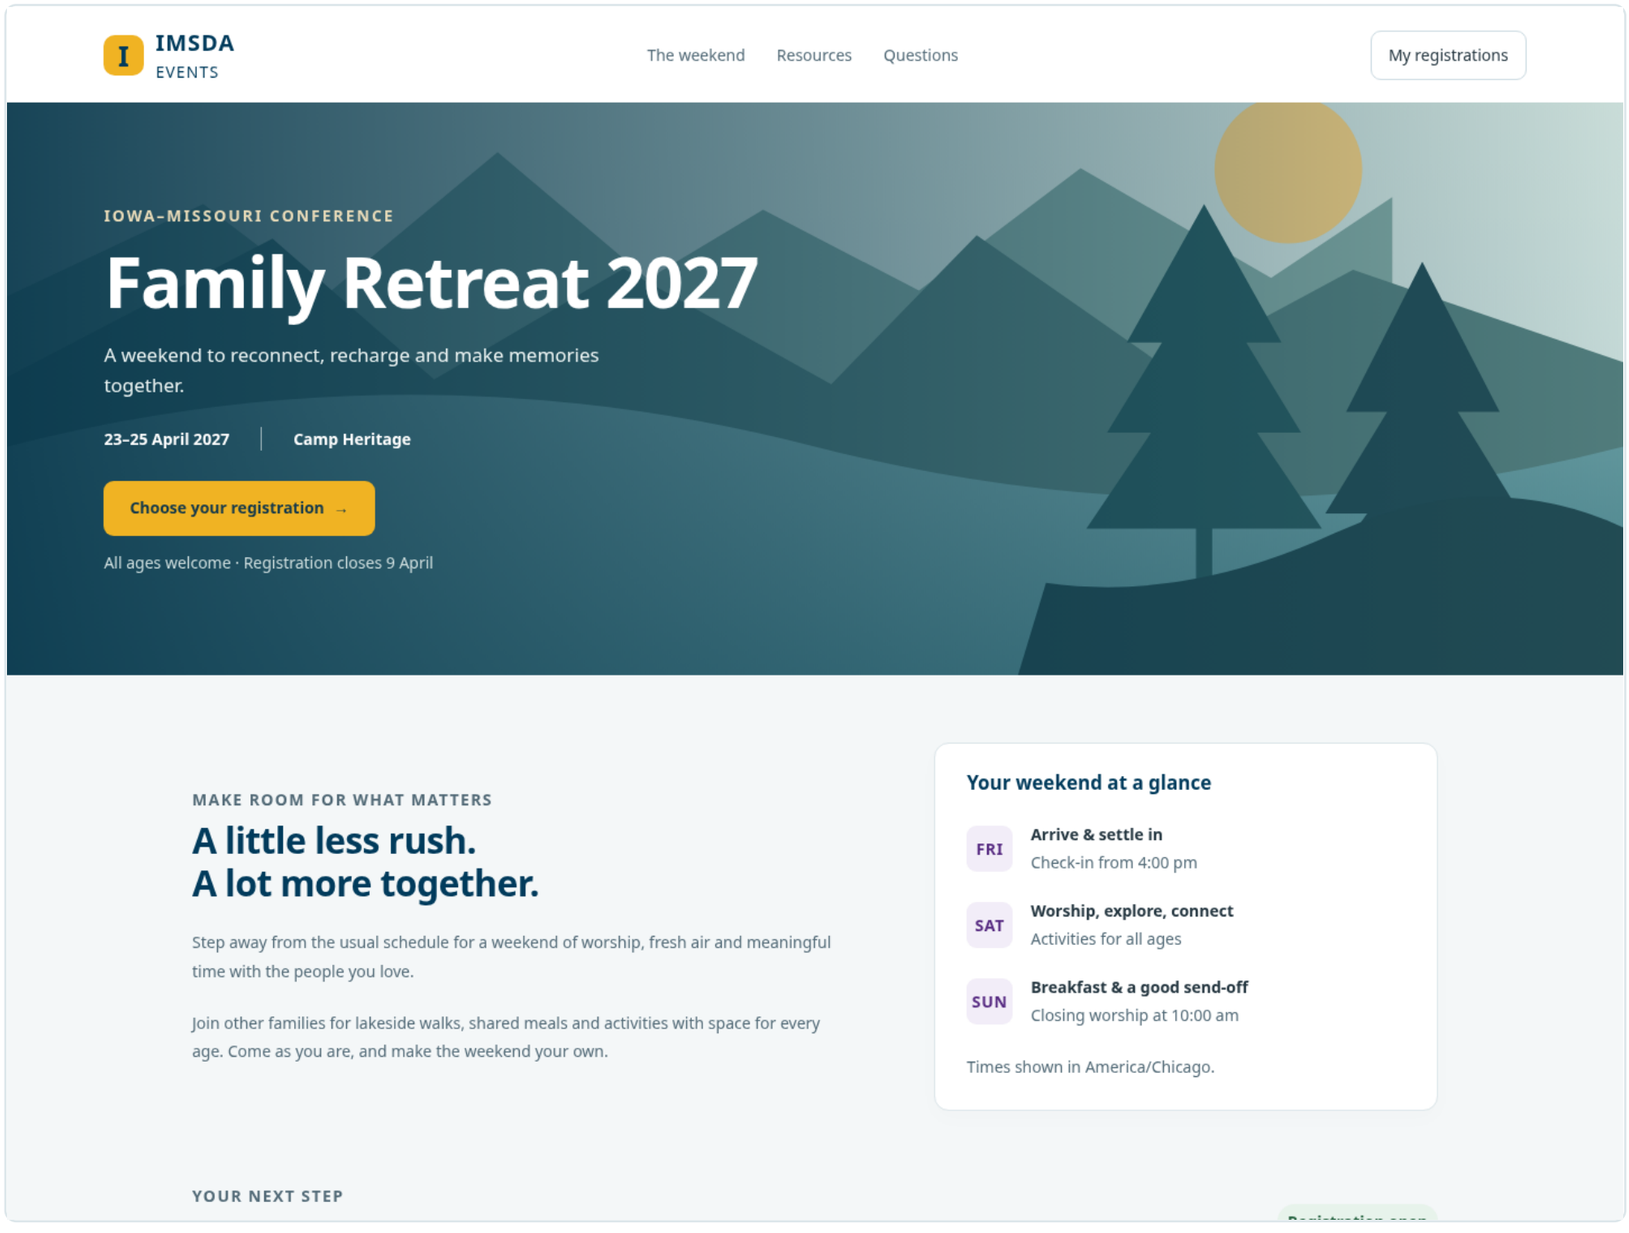

- Outline, draft preview and saved links have distinct jobs.
- An unsaved or failed address edit does not change the shared address.
- Try a new title/slug, Phone preview, Save and copying the saved link.

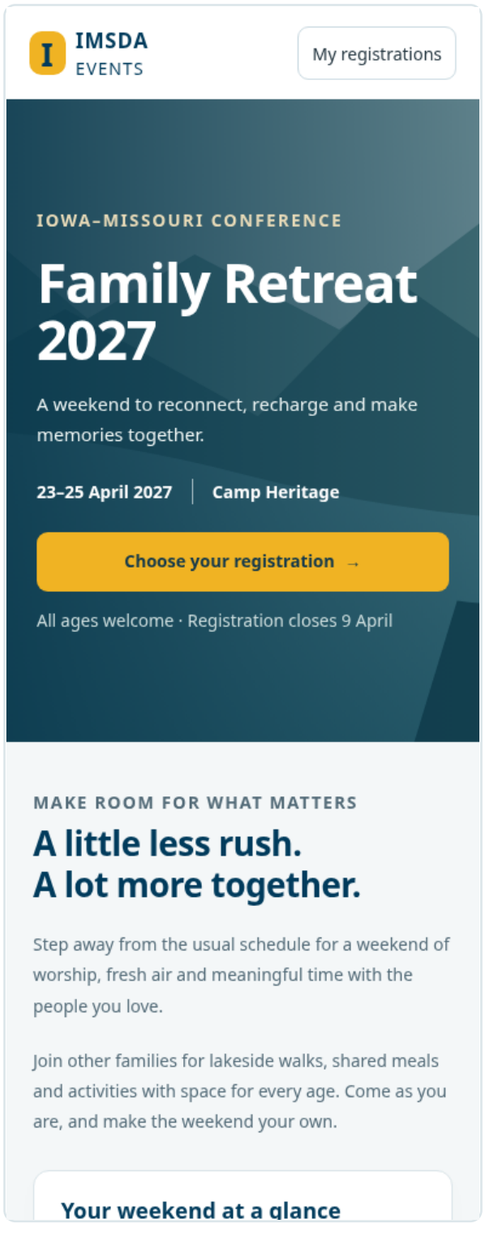

The page your attendees see

Carry the event identity into a clear choice and next step.

DESKTOP · 1440 × 1080 VIEWPORT

PHONE · FIRST VIEWPORT

- Public navigation contains no staff tools.
- A $40-per-attendee weekend option is distinct from asking about serving.
- Try Choose registration, resources and FAQ disclosures.
